WILLIAM MOYA, Plaintiff v. LGR CONSTRUCTION, LLC and ADVANCED BUILDING SYSTEMS, INC., Defendants

Joint and Several Liability—Contribution—Indemnity—Duty to Supervise.

Defendant Advanced Building Systems, Inc. (ABS) brought a motion for summary judgment, asserting that the uncontroverted record showed that it played no role in the accident that formed the basis for Plaintiff's claims. The Court denied the motion on the grounds that there was evidence of record which could properly lead to the conclusion that ABS had a duty to supervise the construction job site and failed to discharge that duty. The Court further found that Defendant LGR was only required to indemnify ABS to the extent that LGR was found liable to Plaintiff, and not for ABS' own negligence, and denied the motion for summary judgment on this point as well.

Order of the Court entered on September 13, 2012 by ROSCIOLI, J.

OPINION

This matter is before the Court on the Motion for Summary Judgment of Defendant Advanced Building Systems, Inc. The underlying Complaint filed by Plaintiff William Moya asserts causes of action for personal injury sustained in the course of Plaintiff's employment at a construction site, allegedly as a result of the negligence of both Defendants. Both Plaintiff and Defendant LGR Construction, LLC oppose the instant motion.

I. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

In December 2008, Plaintiff was employed by Lake Creek Construction, an entity subcontracted by Defendant Advanced Building Systems, Inc. (ABS) to perform framing and carpentry work in the construction of a Marriott Hotel in Nazareth Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania. ABS was the general contractor for the construction project. Defendant LGR Construction, LLC (LGR) was another subcontractor on the job, having been hired to perform roofing and siding work. On December 9, 2008, Plaintiff was working at the Marriott job site, standing on a ladder on the ground while drilling holes into concrete. While Plaintiff was occupied with this task, some employees of LGR were working above him, and a piece of lumber fell from where the LGR employees were working onto Plaintiff. The lumber struck him on the head and shoulders, and caused him severe injuries.

Plaintiff commenced this action by filing a Complaint on October 12, 2010. The Complaint was reinstated on December 3, 2012. Defendant LGR filed an Answer on February 3, 2011, and Defendant ABS filed an Answer with New Matter and New Matter Crossclaim on February 18, 2011, asserting inter alia, that LGR is either solely liable for Plaintiff's injuries, jointly and severally liable with ABS, or liable over to ABS for contribution and/or indemnity on Plaintiff's claims against ABS. LGR denied same in its Reply to Plaintiff's New Matter Crossclaim, filed March 2, 2011. After discovery was conducted by all parties, ABS filed the instant Motion for Summary Judgment on July 31, 2012. Both Plaintiff and LGR have filed written oppositions to same. The matter was assigned to the Honorable Paula A. Roscioli for decision from the September 4, 2012 Argument List. No party requested oral argument at that time, but each has submitted a brief outlining its respective arguments. The matter is now ready for disposition.

II. SUMMARY JUDGMENT STANDARD

Pennsylvania Rule of Civil Procedure 1035.2 provides, in pertinent part: "After the relevant pleadings are closed, but within such time as not to unreasonably delay trial, any party may move for summary judgment in whole or in part as a matter of law [...] whenever there is no genuine issue of material fact as to a necessary element of the cause of action[.]" In determining whether this is the case, we must view the record before us in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, and resolve all doubts as to the existence of a genuine issue of material fact against the moving party. Pennsylvania State University v. County of Centre, 532 Pa. 142, 615 A.2d 303 (1992). Importantly, the moving party bears the burden of proving that no genuine issues of material fact exist. Rush v. Philadelphia Newspapers Inc., 732 A.2d 648, 650 (Pa. Super. 1999). As stated by our Superior Court in Gutteridge v. A.P. Green Services, Inc., 804 A.2d 643, 651 (Pa. Super. 2002):

summary judgment is proper only when the uncontroverted allegations in the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, admissions of record, and submitted affidavits demonstrate that no genuine issue of material fact exists, and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. ... In sum, only when the facts are so clear that reasonable minds cannot differ, may a trial court properly enter summary judgment.

III. DISCUSSION

In its Motion for Summary Judgment, ABS advances two theories as to why summary judgment must be granted in its favor. The first theory is that "Plaintiff's accident was not caused by any action or inaction of ABS[.]" and that therefore ABS cannot be held liable. (Motion for Summary Judgment, ¶22.) In making such a statement, ABS appears to be of the mind that the uncontroverted record illustrates that ABS played no role in the accident that caused Plaintiff's injuries. We would note that ABS provides no reference to facts which would support this position, and upon a review of the materials submitted to the Court, we find that ABS' position is simply not supported by the record. Both Plaintiff and LGR contend that ABS had a duty to supervise the job site and maintain a safe working environment, and that ABS failed to do so. There is evidence of record which could support such a conclusion, including deposition testimony that an employee of ABS was charged with overseeing the coordination of work on the job site and job site safety. ABS appears to suggest that this duty was discharged by the occurrence of safety meetings, the number and substance of which are unknown to this Court. Viewed in the light most favorable to the Plaintiff and LGR as the non-moving parties, we simply cannot conclude that there is no genuine issue of material fact with regard to whether or not any action or inaction of ABS was a cause of Plaintiff's injuries. Accordingly, we must deny the Motion for Summary Judgment on this point.

The second theory advanced by ABS in support of its Motion for Summary Judgment is that its subcontract with LGR requires LGR to indemnify ABS for claims such as that brought by Plaintiff. The relevant provision of the subcontract reads as follows:

To the fullest extent permitted by law, [LGR] shall indemnify and hold harmless the Owner, the Architect and [ABS] and all of their agents and employees from and against all claims, damages, losses and expenses, including but not limited to attorney's fees, arising out of or resulting from the performance of [LGR]'s Work under this Subcontract, including faulty or defective materials and workmanship of [LGR], provided that any such claim, damage, loss, or expense is attributable to bodily injury, sickness, disease, or death, or to injury or destruction of tangible property including the loss of use resulting there from, to the extent caused in whole or in part by any negligent act or omission of [LGR] or anyone directly or indirectly employed by him or anyone for whose act he may be liable, regardless of whether it is caused in part by a party indemnified hereunder. (Emphasis added.)

In advancing this argument, ABS appears to believe that the contract requires LGR to indemnify ABS for any claims against it, regardless of which of the two parties caused the injury claimed, and regardless of the degree of responsibility of either party. This theory is entirely inconsistent with the Pennsylvania Supreme Court's interpretation of a nearly identical indemnity provision in Greer v. City of Philadelphia, 568 Pa. 244, 795 A.2d 376 (2002). The relevant contract provision in that case provided that a subcontractor was to indemnify the general contractor from and against claims, damages, losses and expenses, including but not limited to attorney's fees, arising out of or resulting from the performance of the Subcontractor's Work under this Subcontract but only to the extent caused in whole or in part by negligent acts or omissions of the Subcontractor; the Subcontractor's Sub Subcontractors, anyone directly or indirectly employed by them or anyone for whose acts they may be liable, regardless of whether or not such claim, damage, loss or expense is caused in part by a party indemnified hereunder. (Emphasis added.)

In interpreting the above language, the Supreme Court found that "the parties communicated their intent to limit any indemnification to that portion of damages attributed to the negligence of [the subcontractor] and those under its supervision." Id. at 249, 795 A.2d at 379. The court determined unequivocally that the indemnification clause of the parties' contract did not provide that the subcontractor had agreed to indemnify the contractor for all claims regardless of which party was negligent. "[I]f parties intend to include within the scope of their indemnity agreement a provision that covers losses due to the indemnitee's own negligence, they must do so in clear and unequivocal language." Id. at 248, 795 A.2d at 378. Such language was not found by the court in Greer; nor is it present in the case now before us. Based upon this interpretation of the contract language at issue, it is clear that LGR is required to indemnify ABS only to the extent that LGR is found to be liable to Plaintiff, and not for ABS' own negligence. As discussed above, it remains to be seen to what extent ABS may be found liable. Accordingly, we find that we must deny ABS' Motion for Summary Judgment on this point as well.

WHEREFORE, we enter the following:

ORDER

AND NOW, this 13th day of September 2012, upon consideration of Defendant Advance Building Systems, Inc.'s Motion for Summary Judgment, and the responses thereto, it is hereby ORDERED that said motion is DENIED.

TOWNSHIP of LOWER NAZARETH, Plaintiff v. PROPAK WOOD, INC., KAZIMIERZ PAWLIK and MARIA PAWLIK, Defendants*Motion for Summary Judgment—Tenant—Lease—Mortgage—Sheriff's Sale—Public Policy.*

Plaintiff in an ejectment action filed a motion for summary judgment against Defendants. As the basis for the motion, Plaintiff alleged that Defendants' interest in their leased property, sold to Plaintiff at Sheriff's Sale after the former owner's default on a mortgage, was subordinate to Plaintiff's interest. Whereas Defendants asserted that their current lease, which was the second renewal of the original lease pursuant to options contained in the original lease and the intervening renewal, was merely an extension of the first, which predated the mortgage, making their interest in the property primary to Plaintiff's interest. In support of the same, they cited certain features of the current lease. They also asserted a public policy argument premised on the chilling effect that the divestiture of tenants' rights in such situations would have on business. The Court considered the parties' arguments and found that Defendants had no right in the property until the exercise of the renewal, which was subsequent to the mortgage giving rise to Plaintiff's property interest. Accordingly, the motion for summary judgment was granted.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Northampton County, Pennsylvania, Civil Division—No. C-0048-CV-2012-4352.

GARY NEIL ASTEAK, ESQUIRE and ALLAN S. FELLHEIMER, ESQUIRE, for Plaintiff.

ERV D. McLAIN, ESQUIRE, for Defendants.

Order of the Court entered on December 21, 2012 by DALLY, J.

ORDER

AND NOW, this 21st day of December 2012, Plaintiff Township of Lower Nazareth's Motion for Summary Judgment is hereby GRANTED, as set forth more fully in the attached Statement of Reasons.

STATEMENT OF REASONSProcedural History

This case is an action in ejectment against Defendants Propak Wood, Kazimierz Pawlik and Maria Pawlik relative to Propak's commercial tenancy, commencing in 2002, of a portion of a property located at 623 Selvaggio Drive in Lower Nazareth, Northampton County. The aforementioned property was previously owned by Defendant T&S Development Co. ("T&S"), a company owned by Stephen and Teresa Selvaggio. T&S leased space to the Defendants and several other entities, most of which were owned by the Selvaggios. The property became subject to a mortgage held by Wachovia Bank in 2006. T&S subsequently defaulted on the mortgage, and on January 6, 2012 the property went to Sheriff's Sale. Plaintiff then purchased the property, and thereafter, commenced ejectment actions against all of T&S' tenants. The action against Defendants commenced on May 8, 2012.

On October 24, 2012 Plaintiff filed the instant Motion for Summary Judgment. Plaintiff filed a brief in support of the motion on October 29, 2012 and on December 11, 2012 Defendants filed their brief in opposition. The matter came before the undersigned for argument on December 11, 2012 and it is now ready for disposition.

Standard of Law

A motion for summary judgment, which may be filed as to all or some of the issues in a case, may only be granted when it is apparent from the entire record, inclusive of the pleadings, depositions, affidavits, answers to interrogatories and admissions on file, that there exist no triable issues of material fact, and thus the movant is entitled to summary judgment as a matter of law. Pa. R.C.P. 1035.2.¹ A material fact is one which affects the outcome of a case. Beach v. Burns International Security Services, 406 Pa. Super. 160, 164, 593 A.2d 1285, 1286 (1991). In considering a motion for summary judgment, the court must review the record in the light most favorable to the non-movant, resolving all doubts in their favor. Id. at 163, 593 A.2d at 1286.

Discussion

As the basis for the instant motion, Plaintiff notes the well-settled legal principle that "a tenant for years loses his right of possession relative to a purchaser at a judicial sale when the foreclosure is on a mortgage recorded prior to the making of the lease." Plaintiff's Brief at 4, quoting Reilly v. Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., 764 F.2d 167, 171 (3d. Cir. 1985), citing Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Kaplan, 330 Pa. 33, 198 A. 68 (1938); Brown v. Aiken, 329 Pa. 566, 571, 198 A. 441, 444 (1938); Picone v. Mowat, 299 Pa. Super. 525, 445 A.2d 1253 (1982).

The relevant facts of the instant case are not in dispute. Defendants initially entered into a five-year lease with T&S Development Co. on March 4, 2002. On March 8, 2007, Defendants and T&S executed an amended lease for an additional five-year term. A second amended lease was executed on December 15, 2011 extending Defendants' tenancy for an additional three years. The Selvaggios' mortgage on the leased property was made on July 25, 2006. Judgment in foreclosure was entered against the Selvaggios

¹ After the relevant pleadings are closed, but within such time as not to unreasonably delay trial, any party may move for summary judgment in whole or in part as a matter of law (1) whenever there is no genuine issue of any material fact as to a necessary element of the cause of action or defense which could be established by additional discovery or expert report, or (2) if, after the completion of discovery relevant to the motion, including the production of expert reports, an adverse party who will bear the burden of proof at trial has failed to produce evidence of facts essential to the cause of action or defense which in a jury trial would require the issues to be submitted to a jury. Pa. R.C.P. 1035.2.

on September 14, 2010, and the property went to Sheriff's Sale on January 6, 2012.

Plaintiff, citing to case law, asserts that "[w]here a lease ... provides for a renewal of an earlier lease, the date of the lease is based on the date that the renewed obligation became binding on the parties ... rather than the date that the original obligation became binding on the parties." Plaintiff's Brief in Support of Its Motion for Summary Judgment ("Plaintiff's Brief") at 5 citing North Penn Savings & Loan v. La Mar, Inc., 9 D.&C.3d 269 (Pa. Com. Pl. Lackawanna Co. 1977). See also, Horizon Financial v. Giamo, 41 D.&C.3d 137 (Pa. Com. Pl. Bucks Co. 1985).

In North Penn Savings, the Lackawanna Court of Common Pleas was called upon to determine whether:

a current lease entered into pursuant to an option to renew, contained in an earlier lease, relate back in time to the original lease so as to create a paramount right of possession in [a] lessee over a buyer of the property at a foreclosure sale. ... [where] [t]he mortgage took place prior to [the] lessee's exercise of the option, but subsequent to the date of the original lease agreement [and] the mortgage was filed prior to the renewal and the foreclosure took place after the renewal.

North Penn Savings & Loan v. La Mar, Inc., supra at 270.

Defendants urge that North Penn Savings is inapposite because in contrast to this case, the lessor in the original lease in North Penn Savings was not the same entity as the lessor in the renewal lease. This distinction, Defendants argue, is "not just a nuance but rather is the essence of the North Penn Savings decision." Defendants' Brief in Opposition to Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment ("Defendants' Brief") at 5. While this difference might be appreciable in the context of a different question, the Court finds it of no consequence in the instant case. The question framed by the court in North Penn Savings is precisely the question before this Court. Moreover, a careful review of the North Penn Savings opinion reveals that the distinction noted by defendants was not a factor in the court's decision in that case. Rather, the court relied on the language of the first lease to the extent that it provided a renewal option, and 12 P.S. §2585, which was subsequently renumbered and is currently set forth at 68 P.S. §342. It codifies the same principle set forth supra with citation to Reilly v. Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., and provides that:

[t]he right of possession of a tenant for years shall not be deemed paramount to that of a purchaser at a tax sale. The right of possession of a tenant for years shall be deemed paramount to that of a purchaser at a judicial sale if, and only if, the letting to him shall precede in point of date the entry of the judgment, order or decree on which such sale was had, and also shall precede the recording or registering of the mortgage, deed or will, if any, through which by legal proceedings the purchaser derives title, unless the letting is made with actual notice to such tenant of the contemplated entry of such judgment, order or decree, or of the fact of the execution of such mortgage, deed or other instrument of writing, and with intent to avoid the effect thereof.

68 P.S. §342.

Upon consideration of the statute, the court stated that: the word ‘letting’ as used in the [statute] does not include the mere granting of an option but rather contemplates the time at which the obligation to lease becomes binding on the parties to it. ... Thus, the superior right of the lessee to possession of land in a lease executed prior to a mortgage recordation will not survive upon the exercise of an option to renew when such option will only become binding on the parties subsequent to the intermittent mortgage.

North Penn Savings & Loan v. La Mar, Inc., supra at 273.

In Horizon Financial, authored by the Honorable Isaac S. Garb in his capacity as President Judge of the Bucks County Court of Common Pleas, the court addressed the same question presented in North Penn Savings. Citing to North Penn Savings, the court held that the exercise of an option to renew set forth in a lease that predated a mortgage did not give the lessee priority over a purchaser at Sheriff’s Sale. Horizon Financial v. Giamo, supra at 141.

Defendants urge that Horizon Financial is distinguishable because here, there is one lease at issue, and in Horizon Financial an entirely new lease was entered into by the parties for the second term. They make the same argument as to North Penn Savings.² Defendants’ argument is premised in part on the fact that the allegedly current lease, like the lease before it, is titled “Amendment to Lease Agreement,” which, they contend, evidences their intention, along with T&S, that the subsequent leases be the mere continuation of the original lease, and that therefore the Court should deem March 4, 2002 the effective date of the lease for purposes of the instant motion. In furtherance of that position, Defendants also note Paragraph Four (4) of the 2007 lease and Paragraph Five (5) of the 2011 lease, which provide that “[a]ll other terms and provisions of the Original Lease not modified herein will continue in full force and effect and are hereby ratified and confirmed.” Plaintiff’s Motion for Summary Judgment, Exhibit C.

Upon consideration, the Court disagrees with Defendants’ contention that these, or any other features of the 2007 and 2011 leases make them a mere continuation of the initial lease. Notably, Defendants cite to no authority for their contention that how a document is titled or the inclusion of a clause such as the one cited by Defendants is dispositive as to the nature of a lease. Rather, what controls is the point at which the parties are bound to the new term of the lease.

² Defendants also argue that we should disregard these cases as merely persuasive authority. However, because these opinions are well-reasoned, consistent with longstanding ruling authority and have been cited by treatises as reflecting the current state of the law, we decline to disregard them. See Aaron v. Woodcock, 283 Pa. 33, 128 A. 665 (1925); Pettit v. Tourison, 283 Pa. 529, 129 A. 587 (1925); Std. Pa. Prac. §121:126.

In the instant case, the original lease provides for a five-year term and an option to renew for an additional five years. Plaintiff's Motion, Exhibit B, ¶¶2, 4. It is clear from the language of the lease that what was granted to Defendants thereunder was merely an option to renew the lease and that the parties were not bound to the term until the March 8, 2007 exercise of that option. At ¶2 of the 2007 lease, there is another five (5) year renewal option. Again, neither party was bound to this term until the timely exercise of the option to renew by Defendants. Accordingly, pursuant to either the 2007 or the 2011 lease, Defendants' right to possession of the property is clearly not "paramount" to that of Plaintiff,³ and the matter is therefore ripe for summary judgment.

In so finding, the Court rejects Defendants' final contention, set forth during oral argument but not contained in their brief, that a ruling in Plaintiff's favor would be contrary to public policy. Specifically, Defendant argues that subjecting commercial tenants to the possible divestiture of their leaseholds upon the default of an owner would have an untenable chilling effect on commerce. Where there is well-settled law governing an issue, we will not disregard that law in favor of a public policy argument of questionable merit. Irrespective of its effect on commerce, the fact that a renewal option is of no consequence in determining priority of interests in land until it is exercised is the law of this Commonwealth and applied to this case, it requires that Plaintiffs' Motion for Summary Judgment be GRANTED.

³ Additionally, we note that at ¶24 of the original lease, which as Defendants point out, is incorporated into the subsequent leases, the parties thereto agreed as follows:

The parties acknowledge and agree that this Lease Agreement is under, subject and subordinate to any and all mortgages and security interests that presently encumber the property or that in the future may encumber the property of which the leased premises is a part, and that as long as LESSEE is not in default hereunder, LESSEE'S use and enjoyment of the premises shall not be disturbed.

Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment, Exhibit B, ¶24.

In Horizon Financial, Judge Garb considered a similar lease clause and found it binding on the parties as to the subordination of the lease renewal to the mortgage that predated it. Horizon Financial v. Giamo, 41 D.&C.3d 137, 142 (Pa. Com. Pl. 1985).

HENRY L. CANDEIAS, Administrator of the Estate of MANUEL CANDEIAS, Deceased, Plaintiff v. BRIAN M. REX, KAREN L. REX, MARSHALL INDUSTRIAL TECHNOLOGIES and PAIKES ENTERPRISES, INC., Defendants

Preliminary Objections—Punitive Damages—Separate Count—Outrageous Conduct—Reckless Conduct.

Plaintiff's Decedent was struck and killed by a vehicle operated by Defendant Brian Rex and owned jointly by Brian and Karen Rex while working for Defendant Marshall Enterprises through a subcontractor. The premises was owned by Defendant Paikes. Defendants Paikes and Marshall filed preliminary objections to Plaintiff's Complaint, seeking to strike the punitive damages claims against them. Preliminarily, Defendant Marshall sought to strike the claim as improperly pled in a separate count of the complaint. The Court, while agreeing with Marshall that a punitive damages claim cannot stand independently, found that pleading it separate and apart from the underlying claim was not fatal thereto.

The Court then examined the substance of the punitive damages claims, and found them sufficiently pled as to both Objecting Defendants. Accordingly, their preliminary objections were overruled.

Order of the Court entered on February 27, 2012 by DALLY, J.

ORDER

AND NOW, this 27th day of February 2012, upon consideration of the Preliminary Objections of Marshall Industrial Technologies and Paikes Enterprises, Inc., it is hereby ORDERED and DIRECTED that the Preliminary Objections are OVERRULED.

STATEMENT OF REASONS

This matter commenced by Writ of Summons on October 14, 2011. On December 8, 2011, Plaintiff filed a Complaint bringing claims of negligence against all Defendants, Brian M. and Karen L. Rex, Paikes Enterprises, Inc. ("Defendant Paikes") and Marshall Industrial Technologies ("Defendant Marshall"); negligent entrustment against Karen L. Rex; wrongful death and survival actions against all Defendants; and punitive damages against Marshall and Paikes, arising from the October 15, 2010 death of Manuel Candeias (“Decedent”). The Complaint alleges that at approximately 6:00 a.m. on that date, Decedent, who was employed as a welder for Cotterman, Inc., reported to 100 Industrial Boulevard in Stockertown, Northampton County. Complaint, ¶8. Plaintiff avers that the property was owned by Defendant Paikes, and leased by Defendant Marshall. Complaint, ¶¶10-11. It is further alleged that Defendant Marshall had employed Cotterman, Inc. to perform work on the premises, and that as such, Decedent was a business invitee of Defendants Marshall and Paikes. Complaint, ¶12. As he traversed the parking lot to the main building on the premises, it is alleged that Decedent was struck by a vehicle owned by Defendants Brian M. and Karen L. Rex and operated by Brian M. Rex. Complaint, ¶13. As a result of the impact, Plaintiff alleges that Decedent suffered multiple trauma and remained hospitalized for approximately two weeks before succumbing to his injuries on October 31, 2010. Complaint, ¶16.

On December 21, 2011, Defendants Marshall and Paikes filed separate preliminary objections to the Complaint and briefs in support thereof. Plaintiff filed a response and brief on January 9, 2012 and on January 31, 2012, the matter came before the undersigned for argument. It is now ready for disposition.

Standard of Law

Preliminary objections in the nature of a demurrer or a motion to strike challenge the sufficiency of a complaint, and therefore must be resolved solely on the substance thereof. MacGregor v. Mediq Inc., 395 Pa. Super. 221, 225, 576 A.2d 1123, 1125 (1990); Bailey v. Storlazzi, 729 A.2d 1206, 1211 (Pa. Super. 1999). In raising a demurrer, the objecting party thereby admits the truth of the material facts of a complaint and all inferences reasonably deducible therefrom. Jones v. Nationwide Property and Casualty Insurance Company, 995 A.2d 1233, 1237 (Pa. Super. 2010). In ruling on a demurrer, a court may sustain such a motion only when it is clear and free from doubt that a plaintiff has no possibility of recovery on the facts of the complaint as pled. Swisher v. Pitz, 868 A.2d 1228 (Pa. Super. 2005).

Discussion

Both Objecting Defendants seek to strike the punitive damages claims set forth against them at Count VII of the Complaint. Punitive damages are damages in addition to compensatory or nominal damages, awarded to punish a tortfeasor for his conduct, and to deter such future conduct. Snead v. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Pennsylvania, 929 A.2d 1169, 1184 (Pa. Super. 2007). Pennsylvania follows the Restatement (Second) of Torts §908(2) governing punitive damages which provides that “[p]unitive damages may be awarded for conduct that is outrageous, because of the defendant's evil motive or his reckless indifference to the rights of others" Restatement (Second) of Torts §908(2) (1968). See also, Feld v. Merriam, 506 Pa. 383, 395, 485 A.2d 742, 747 (1984), citing Chambers v. Montgomery, 411 Pa. 339, 344, 192 A.2d 355, 358 (1963). While allegations of "willful, wanton or reckless conduct" are a necessary predicate to support a claim for punitive damages, it is not enough to plead in the language of punitive damages. Feld, supra at 395, 485 A.2d at 747-48; 2 Goodrich Amram 2d §1019(a):7. Rather, the facts averred must support the claim. Id.

In order to state a claim for punitive damages, a plaintiff must prove that the defendant engaged in conduct that was "outrageous," and done with a bad motive, or with "reckless indifference" to the safety of others. Hutchison ex rel. Hutchison v. Luddy, 582 Pa. 114, 121, 870 A.2d 766, 770 (2005).

In order for conduct to be considered reckless it must involve an easily perceptible danger of death or substantial physical harm, and the probability that it will so result must be substantially greater than is required for ordinary negligence ... [t]he actor ... must recognize that his conduct involves a risk substantially greater in amount than that which is necessary to make his conduct negligent.

Hall v. Jackson, 788 A.2d 390, 403 (Pa. Super. 2001).

In support of its demurrer, Defendant Marshall contends that in the first instance, punitive damages are improperly pled as a separate count in the Complaint, and seeks to strike the same on those grounds.¹ See Nix v. Temple University of the Commonwealth System of Higher Education, 408 Pa. Super. 369, 380, 596 A.2d 1132, 1138 (1991) (Dismissing punitive damages count from plaintiff's complaint on the basis that "[a] request for punitive damages does not constitute a cause of action in and of itself, [but] is merely incidental to a cause of action."). Additionally, both Objecting Defendants argue that the averments of fact set forth in the Complaint are insufficient to support Plaintiff's punitive damages claim, because although pled in the language of punitive damages, the allegations against Objecting Defendants are suggestive of nothing more than mere negligence.

With regard to Defendant Marshall's contention that Plaintiff's punitive damages claim should be stricken on the basis that it is independently set forth as a separate count to the Complaint, the Court agrees with Marshall that a punitive damages claim cannot stand as an independent cause of action, but it further finds that pleading punitive damages in a separate count is not fatal to such a claim where it is clear that it is incident to another cause of action set forth in the complaint. See Tower Investments Inc. v. Rawle & Henderson, 2 D.&C.5th 537 (Pa. Com. Pl. Philadelphia Co. 2008) (Finding that because underlying claim was sufficiently pled, punitive damages claim set forth in a separate count, was also sufficiently pled, and overruling a preliminary objection thereto.); Blair v. Mehta, 2004 WL 5868007 (Pa. Com. Pl. Lycoming Co. 2004) (Declining to dismiss a punitive damages claim pled in a separate count where the form of the pleading, although technically incorrect, did nothing more than highlight the facts of underlying cause of action in support of the punitive damages claim, and no appreciable harm or prejudice resulted therefrom.). Upon review of the Complaint, it is clear that Plaintiff's punitive damages claims are purely incidental to her causes of action in chief. Accordingly, Defendant Marshall's objection to the form of the pleading is hereby OVERRULED.

The Court now moves to Objecting Defendants' substantive demurrers to Plaintiff's claims of punitive damages against them. By the Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that prior to the accident resulting in the passing of Decedent, Objecting Defendants had knowledge of inadequate lighting conditions in the parking lot on the premises; had received complaints about the same; and had purchased but failed to install lighting for the parking lot, and that such conduct was "reckless and outrageous and amounted to an indifference to the rights of ... Decedent and other business invitees similarly situated." Complaint, ¶¶47-52. On these facts, Plaintiff contends that Objecting Defendants, faced with a situation where the possibility of death or substantial physical harm to those on the premises was so easily perceptible, and the probability so great, acted recklessly, as opposed to having acted in an ordinarily negligent manner, with regard to their failure to immediately remedy the threat of harm. Whereas, Objecting Defendants contend that at most, the averments of the Complaint demonstrate their negligent failure to act, but that they do not support a punitive damages claim.²

Upon consideration, the Court finds that per the facts set forth in the Complaint, Plaintiff has properly pled punitive damages claims against both Objecting Defendants. Specifically, Plaintiff's averments that Objecting Defendants were aware of a risk that presented a threat of death or serious bodily injury to those on the premises in low natural light, and failed to remediate the same, could reasonably lead a jury to conclude that Objecting Defendants acted with reckless disregard for the safety and welfare of others.³ In light of the foregoing, the preliminary objections of Defendants Marshall and Paikes to Plaintiff's claims of punitive damages against them are hereby OVERRULED.

³ At argument, Defendant Paikes suggested that as the owner of the property subject to the lease held by Marshall, it could not be held to the same standard of liability as Defendant Marshall, and therefore, the punitive damages claim against them should fail. Whatever defenses the parties may raise, their preliminary objections are to be decided solely on the basis of the Complaint.

Attorney(s): Robert W. Cusik, Esquire for Plaintiff
Thomas P. Henney, Jr., Esquire for Defendants
Date of Order: September 27, 2012
Judge: Paula A. Roscioli, J.
Description of Decision:

Where there were no issues of material fact remaining for determination, the Court granted summary judgment in favor of Plaintiffs, despite ongoing discovery, on the grounds that Defendants failed to timely initiate discovery. Discovery was not initiated by Defendants until five months after they filed their answer and one month after the motion for summary judgment was filed.

Attorney(s): Derek Blasker, Esquire for Plaintiff
Herbert A. Terrell, Esquire for Defendant
Date of Order: November 8, 2012
Judge: Paula A. Roscioli, J.
Description of Decision:

The Court sustained preliminary objections to Defendant's Answer on the grounds that Defendant failed to state averments of time with particularity and failed to attach a writing upon which one of his defenses was based. The Court further overruled a preliminary objection to the verification of Defendant's Answer, on the grounds that the verification was properly made upon information and belief and contained mere clerical errors.

Judge: Craig A. Dally, J.

Description of Decision:

This matter came before the Court for a non-jury trial on Plaintiff's custody petition. Upon consideration of the evidence in light of 23 Pa. C.S.A. §5328, the Court, finding it to be in the best interests of the child, entered an Order that increased Plaintiff's custodial time to be equal to Defendant's.

Judge: Craig A. Daily, J.

Description of Decision:

Plaintiffs, maternal grandparents, had physical and legal custody of minor child, and upon divorcing, agreed upon a schedule pursuant to which the shared custody continued. Mother, who had been estranged, then began spending more time with the child through Plaintiff, paternal grandfather. The matter came before the Court on Plaintiff paternal grandfather's petition to relocate to Mother's home in New Mexico with the minor child. The Court evaluated the evidence adduced at trial under 23 Pa. C.S.A. §5337 and denied the petition, finding that it would not serve the best interests of the child.

Date of Order: September 20, 2012

Judge: Craig A. Dally, J.

Description of Decision:

Plaintiff filed a petition for contempt against Defendant alleging her willful violation of a custody order entered by agreement of the parties. While Defendant alleged that she had acted out of ignorance rather than willfully, the Court found that the evidence established otherwise and made a finding of contempt against Defendant. However, in light of Defendant's cooperation with an award of extra custodial time to Plaintiff to compensate him for the time lost as a result of the violation, the Court ordered no further sanctions against Defendant.

Date of Order: September 7, 2012

Judge: Craig A. Dally, J.

Description of Decision:

Defendant filed a motion for protective order seeking to limit the scope of Plaintiff's Request for Production of Documents in a divorce case. Upon review of the request, and in consideration of the parties' arguments, the Court found each of the requested items germane to the case and therefore capable of leading to the discovery of relevant information. Accordingly, Defendant's motion was denied.

Description of Decision:

Plaintiff filed an action against Defendant to collect a debt. Defendant, appearing pro se, filed an Answer to the underlying Complaint in letter form, explaining his inability to secure counsel and the circumstances leading to the debt. Plaintiff then filed a motion for judgment on the pleadings. Finding that, notwithstanding his pro se status, the Defendant's Answer amounted to an admission of the material elements of the claim, the Court granted the motion for judgment on the pleadings.

Judge: Craig A. Dally, J.

Description of Decision:

Plaintiff filed an action in ejectment against Defendant, to which Defendant, acting pro se, filed an Answer and Counterclaim. The matter came before the Court on Plaintiff's preliminary objections thereto. By the preliminary objections, Plaintiff alleged that the pleading, which was written in a protracted narrative form, sought to impermissibly join defense counsel; failed to state a claim for professional negligence, or any other claim against defense counsel; impermissibly included scandalous and impertinent matter; was insufficiently specific; and failed to comply with Pa. R.C.P. 1019 requiring in part that "the material facts upon which a cause of action ... is based shall be stated in concise and summary form." Bearing in mind the deference accorded to pro se litigants, the Court examined the Complaint. It contained a single reference to defense counsel, and to the extent that such reference could be construed as asserting a cause of action against him, the Court agreed with Plaintiff that it failed to state a claim against him and was in violation of the rules regarding joinder. Accordingly, the Court sustained the related preliminary objections. Upon further review, the Court found the pleading insufficient to state a claim against Defendant, in that it included scandalous and impertinent matter, was not stated in concise and summary form and was insufficiently specific as to the claims against him. The remaining preliminary objections were therefore granted and the pleading was dismissed. Defendant was given twenty days within which to file a new pleading.

Attorney(s): Everett Cook, Esquire for Plaintiff

Judge: Craig A. Dally, J.

Description of Decision:

Plaintiff sued Defendant, his brother, for unjust enrichment, fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, equitable conversion and breach of assumed duties attendant with Defendant's sale of a home willed to him by the parties' mother. The claims were based on language in the will regarding the mother's wish that Plaintiff be allowed to continue to live in the home after her death. Defendant filed preliminary objections to the pleading, asserting the precatory nature of the testamentary language relied upon by Plaintiff. Upon consideration, the Court agreed with Defendant that the language was indeed precatory and in light of that, and a prior ruling by another judge of this Court, Plaintiff had no interest in the residence upon which to premise several of his claims. Accordingly, the Court sustained Defendant's preliminary objections in the form of demurrers to the claims against him in reliance of this language. The Court also granted Defendant's demurrer to Plaintiff's fraud claim based on his failure to plead the requisite elements, and sustained his demurrer to Plaintiff's claim for equitable conversion on the basis that it is not a recognized cause of action. After sustaining all of Defendant's demurrers, the Court granted Plaintiff twenty days within which to file a further amended pleading.
