JUDICIAL OPINION

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS OF FAYETTE COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA CRIMINAL DIVISION

COMMONWEALTH OF	:
PENNSYLVANIA	:	MJ-14202-CR-0000223-2023
vs.	:	MJ-14202-CR-0000250-2024
JACOB SPRINGER,,	:	MJ-14202-CR-0000306-2024
Defendant.	:	President Judge Steve P. Leskinen

OPINION AND ORDER

LESKINEN, P.J.

Before the Court is the Motion for to Disqualify the Fayette County District Attorney's Office filed by Defendant, Jacob Springer. An evidentiary hearing was held on January 30th, 2025, on this Motion and a contemporaneously filed Motion to Dismiss Pursuant to Pa. R. Crim. P. 600. {1}

Defendant's Motion includes requests for an investigation of the current and prior administration of the Fayette County District Attorney's Office, the disqualification of the Fayette County District Attorney's Office from the above-captioned cases, and a request for the Attorney General's office to handle the Defendant's cases. Attorney Robinson, (one of two law partners who have appeared for the Defendant) claims in the Motion that she was "bullied because of sex, age, and race," (§19) and that she was "coerced into taking continuances" (§22) on two occasions by members of the D.A.'s Office. Evidence and testimony presented at the hearing concerned an ultimately unsuccessful deal for Defendant to provide testimony in another matter and a series of rescheduled preliminary hearings. At the preliminary hearing scheduled for 9:00 A.M. on December 11th, 2024, an argument occurred between Robinson and Michael Aubele, the Fayette County District Attorney, after counsel for Defendant appeared shortly before 11:30 A.M. for the 9:00 A.M. hearing. {2}

{1} The Rule 600 Motion was denied by separate Opinion and Order filed the same date as this Opinion and Order.

{2} Attorney Robinson avers in the Motion that she contacted the Magisterial District Judge's office ("MDJ") at 8:00 A.M. to request that Defendant's 9:00 A.M. preliminary hearing be called at the end of the morning case list, as she had "a scheduling conflict in its home county of Allegheny County." Assistant District Attorney Geibig testified that when he arrived at the MDJ's office that morning he received a note to call Robinson, and he did so at 8:51 A.M. at which time Robinson indicated that she and her law partner, Attorney Gray, should arrive at the MDJ office around 10:00 A.M. or shortly thereafter. Though Robinson avers in the Motion that they arrived around 10:35 A.M. but were not called by the Pennsylvania State Police Trooper on the case until 11:00 A.M., the credible testimony offered by ADA Geibig, supported by cell phone records, shows that Geibig called Robinson a second time at 11:08 A.M., at which point Robinson and Gray were still ten minutes away from the MDJ office. The DA contends that on October 15th, 2024, Robinson appeared in person and scheduled the December 11th, 2024, hearing for 9:00 A.M. No evidence was presented to contradict the claim that Robinson personally selected the date and time that was allegedly a conflict, nor was any evidence presented as to the nature of the conflict or of any exigency that necessitated calling shortly before the hearing rather than addressing the conflict in advance.

At the hearing on the Motion, defense counsel cited McCarthy v. Southeastern Pennsylvania Transp. Authority, 772 A.2d 987 (Pa. Super. 2001) as precedent for a court's authority to disqualify counsel for violations of the Pa. Rules of Professional Conduct ("RPC") during the pendency of litigation. In McCarthy, as a civil jury trial was about to begin, the trial court sanctioned Plaintiff's counsel with disqualification for alleged violations of Rule 4.2 of the RPC for ex-parte communications with employees of the Defendant Transit Authority, ordering that an associate of the disqualified counsel try the case in his absence. The Superior Court reversed and remanded back to the trial court, holding that a trial court may sanction counsel by disqualification for a violation of the RPC only when the trial court has determined that disqualification is needed to ensure the parties receive the fair trial that due process requires, and even then, the court must have evidence in the record to support a conclusion that the attorney violated the particular rule in question.

The basis for disqualification described in McCarthy applies to a particular attorney or attorneys where the record supports the violation of a specific rule in the RPC. Defense counsel has not identified (either in the Motion or at the hearing) which rule in the RPC was allegedly violated, which of the attorneys from the District Attorney's Office allegedly violated the rule, or what actions by counsel constitute a violation. To the extent that Attorney Robinson alleges that she experienced "an assault on her dignity, clowned and made to feel inferior by both MDJs and members of the District Attorney's Office including DA Aubele, all in the presence of the client," this Court would note that the events of December 11th, 2024, were set in motion when counsel waited until an hour before a scheduled hearing to notify the court that she had a conflicting obligation, eventually arriving with co-counsel more than two hours after the scheduled hearing time. Though defense counsel raises valid concerns about an apparent lack of communication and continuity among different ADAs appearing for subsequent hearings after continuances on these cases, this does not constitute an ethical violation upon which the Court can justify the extreme remedy of disqualifying one or more of the attorneys representing the Commonwealth. In addition, even if the record supported a finding that one prosecutor violated a particular ethical rule, which it does not, Defense counsel has not provided any authority that would allow this Court to disqualify the entire District Attorney's Office solely on that basis.

Though not raised or cited by defense counsel, the existing case law on the disqualification of a prosecutor or of a prosecutor's office due to a conflict of interest generally divides along two lines. {3} The first group of cases involves impropriety or the appearance of impropriety (as described in Robinson) and a "potential" conflict of interest, requiring a showing of actual prejudice to the defendant (as described in Sepulveda). The second group of cases involve an actual conflict of interest, in which prejudice to the defendant is presumed. The fact that a prosecutor may have some personal interest that would be served by a defendant's conviction does not automatically equate to a conflict of interest. Even proof of "mere animosity" is not sufficient to require the replacement of a prosecutor. Com. v. Stafford, 749 A.2d 489, 495 (Pa. Super. 2000). After a careful review of the record, there is insufficient evidence to support a finding of either the appearance of impropriety or an actual conflict of interest as to any of the attorneys involved in these cases on behalf of the District Attorney's Office, or of the Office in its entirety.

WHEREFORE, the Court issues the following Order:

ORDER

AND NOW, this 14th day of March, 2025, upon consideration of the Motion to Disqualify the Fayette County District Attorney's Office filed by Defendant, Jacob Springer, in the above-captioned actions, the Motion is hereby DENIED, with prejudice as to any facts and circumstances arising prior to the hearing on January 30th, 2025, for the reasons set forth in the accompanying Opinion.

BY THE COURT:
STEVE. P. LESKINEN,
PRESIDENT JUDGE

ATTEST:
CLERK OF COURTS

^{3} See: Com. v. Robinson, 651 Pa. 190 (Pa. 2018), which distinguishes between cases based on impropriety (or the appearance of impropriety) and cases with an actual conflict of interest. It is cited here not for the plurality decision, but for its summary of the applicable case law relating to conflicts. See also: Com. v. Sepulveda, 618 Pa. 262, 326 (Pa. 2012), which distinguishes between potential and actual conflicts of interest.
